

Sneaky Phishing Tricks

American Express card users beware of the “unauthorized transaction” scam. This scam targets card users via a text message with the subject line “Unauthorized transaction-American Express.” It tells recipients their account has to be updated and has been temporarily suspended until they verify their billing information. They provide a helpful “Update Now” button... that, of course, leads to a fake American Express page.

This scam is not exclusive to American Express card users - it is used for all credit cards. Never provide your personal and/or credit card through a text message, email or over the phone.
